COMMENT OF THE DAY

Exit The Controls

TEMOVAL of the last Cofficial controls on the retail prices of imported foodstuffs and other commodities is a welcome confirmation of the claim which has long been made by dealers that the Colony blessed with a abundance of dally necessities to meet all by local concontrols occupation of Hongkong have served a valuable purpose. They were wisely applied, and with sufficient elasticity to meet changing conditions. Their removal, however, occasions icelings of regret. They were never intended to be more than expedient, and so long as it can be shown they are superfluous, their nonexistence will cause no heartaches. As a protection against exploitation of the general public when commodities were in short supply they were as necessary as they were effective. Yet the time can and does arrive when ceiling prices become a boomerang. inasmuch that they discourage fair competition when full supplies are available, and tend to keep retail prices up to the maximum. But while Hongkong at this moment is in the happy position of being able to satisfy the fundamental economic yardstick of supplies meeting demands without recourse to artificial aids or restrictions, the situation will need to be watched. Government retains its powers to impose price controls and the welfare of the community has to be kept in mind at all times. Any unreasonable increase in retail prices, in the future would demand immediate official action through the restoration of controls. We believe, however, that the public can will have no dealers difficulty in continuing to

Statements Denied White D. KOREA, THE FUTURE OF FORMOSA, INDO-CHINA

Washington, Apr. 12. Concern and confusion have resulted from the revelation that the US Secretary of State, Mr John Foster Dulles, was the source of press reports of a proposed sweeping settlement of Far Eastern differences with the Communists.

The numerous widely published and in part identical reports in the leading newspapers of the United States 'referred to concepts being discussed in the State Department for a settlement of such problems as:

The Korean and Indo-China wars.

The future status of Formosa, and The future status of rival Communist and Nationalist Chinese Governments.

The concern expressed in Congress and in the press derived from the fear that the proposals involved far-reaching concessions to the Chinese Communists and that they might amount to what one columnist had called "a Far Eastern Munich".

RETAIN CHINESE GOVERNOR'S CUP FOR FOURTH SUCCESSIVE YEAR By "SPIV"

The Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation retained the Governor's Cup for the fourth time in succession and for the sixth time since the re-introduction of the competition after the war by defeating the Hongkong Football Association XI by three goals to two in their second match yesterday. The first match was a 2-2 draw.

Played in a continuous drizzle, the match produced a fairly high standard of soccer with the Chinese XI again asserting their superiority in their more cohesive and more factful forward line and a thrustful set of wing-halves.

At the end of the first half, Pau King-yln in the Chinese! ### Gate System For Northolt Airport

London, Apr. 12.

The gate system, airport equivalent of a railway station's platforms, is to be introduced at Northolt Airport soon.

Outgoing passengers will then be told from which gate their airliner leaves. The gates will be through railings on the parking "apron:" As soon as passengers are told to board, they will be able to pass through the gate to the actual plane's steps.

plane's steps,

It will save them being led to the decoplanes in long, straggly files by a receptionist.

"Gates" are used at most of the big American airports.

The only airlines now using Northolt are British European and Aer Lingus (Irish Airlines). Others have transferred to London Airport, and quite a lot of BEA's services also start from London Airport now.

But Northolt, which handled 773,000 passengers last year, expects to be busier in 1953.

Officially the airport is to be handed back to the RAF.

But Mr Peter Masefield, chief executive of British European Airways, expects Northolt to remain a civil airport for

Painful Readjustment Definite Possibility

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT)

London, Apr. 12. The recent fall in commodity prices and the parallel movement on the world's stock exchanges cannot be explained in simple terms of war and peace.

To attribute these developments to "fears" of peace would not only be to malign businessmen all over the free world. It would also lead to the conclusion that the West has become permanently dependent upon a high level of armament production to keep its factories working. And that is patently absurd.

The danger forseen in the peace proposals put forward by the Soviet and Chinese leaders is not that the West may go bankrupt overnight if rearmament ceases but that the period of read justment from semi-war to the normal pattern of production might be exceedingly painful for certain countries outside

Libel Case Judgment: Case Record To Go To Attorney-General

Although he found there was libel in an advertisement published in the Chinese Press by one Chinese herbalist against another-both claiming to be cancer specialists—Mr Justice Reece at the Supreme Court this morning said he was strongly of the opinion that the public should be protected from the ministrations of both men as far as cancer treatment was concerned, and announced that he would send the case record to the Attorney-General for such action as he might deem fit.

Mr Justice Reece said he was taking this step in view of the evidence of Dr J. Gray, surgical specialist of the Hongkong Government, that it was impossible to cure cancer with pills and powders.
